

NO OSTENTATION AT QUAY FUNERAL.

Such Was the Last Request of the Dead Senator.

BODY IS TO LIE IN STATE

There Will Be No Honorary Pall Bearers, and the Active List as Announced Will Not Be Changed.

Beaver, Pa., May 30.—Many prominent people visited this place Sunday for the purpose of expressing sympathy to the family of the late Senator Quay, but only a few of the most intimate friends were permitted to view the remains of the dead.

It was announced by the family that carrying out the senator's dying request, there would be no ostentation in connection with the funeral. This compels the refusal of a request by the Masons for a Masonic funeral. The funeral arrangements made are that the body shall remain in the senator's bed room where he died until Tuesday, when it will be carried to the First Presbyterian church in charge of Post 473, G. A. R., of which Senator Quay was a member, and lie in state from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. The church will then be cleared, and at two o'clock the funeral services will be conducted by Rev. J. S. Ramsey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. Appleton Bash, D. D. of the M. E. church. There will be no honorary pall bearers, and the active list as announced last will not be changed.

THE LATE SENATOR QUAY.

Gen. J. S. Clark, surveyor of the port of New York, a member of the republican national committee, of which Senator Quay was chairman when President Harrison was elected, asked the privilege of calling a requisition of the survivors of that committee on Tuesday next at Beaver.

Under the circumstances the family was forced to request that the requiem be not held.

President Roosevelt can not attend the funeral. Gov. Pennypacker, however, will arrive here Tuesday morning, and return to Harrisburg immediately after the funeral services.

ENTIRE DELEGATION TO ATTEND.

Speaker Cannon Appoints a Committee to Represent the House.

Washington, May 30.—Speaker Cannon has appointed the entire Pennsylvania state delegation as a committee to represent the house of representatives at the funeral of the late Senator Quay, at Beaver, Pa., Tuesday next. A special car will be attached to the Pennsylvania railroad train leaving Washington at 7:15 p. m. Monday for the use of such members of the committees of the two houses of congress as may be in this city at that time. Other members will be met at Pittsburgh Tuesday morning, and the entire congressional party will proceed to Beaver by special train.

MAY LAND U. S. MARINES

Tangier Incident May Yet Be the Means of Causing Serious Trouble.

Washington, May 30.—Should American interests in Tangier, or other places in Morocco be imperiled in any way as a result of complications growing out of the capture of the American, Perle, by the Moorish bandits, it may become necessary to land marines from the American men of war now on their way there. This contingency, however, has not been seriously considered by the administration, as there has been no evidence that such step was necessary. Officials say it has never been contemplated that marines should be sent into the interior of the country to assist in the rescue of the captured men. They say marines could not accomplish anything, because of the inaccessibility of the country. It was expected that Admiral Chadwick, with the cruiser Brooklyn, would arrive at Tangier Sunday, but Secretary Moody said that nothing had been received from the admiral up to Sunday night.

Severe Storm in Indiana.

Evansville, Ind., May 30.—The most severe storm since 1884 passed over southern Indiana Sunday. The shade trees and fences in the city suffered greatly, and the roof of the mail line wharf boat was nearly unroofed. The roof on the old water plant was also badly damaged.

Fire Destroys Warehouse.

Montgomery, Ala., May 30.—Fire destroyed the plant and warehouse of the Alabama Cordage Co. here Sunday, entailing a loss of $400,000, which is practically covered by insurance.

To Visit the Pope.

Cleveland, O., May 30.—Bishop Horstmann will leave Monday for his visit to the pope at Rome. The bishop will remain in Philadelphia until Wednesday, arriving in New York in time to sail on Thursday morning for Havre. He will be gone perhaps two months.

Wife Shoots Her Husband.

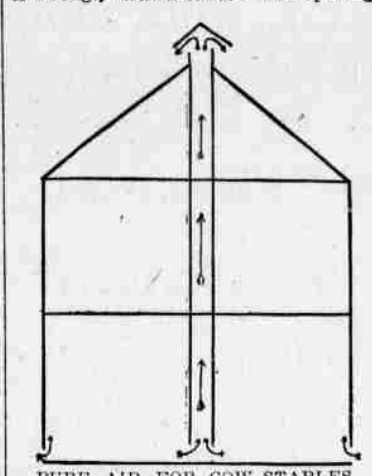

Batton, Tex., May 30.—Graham Jones was shot and killed by his wife, who fired four bullets into his body. It is said that jealousy was the cause.

THE FARMING WORLD

VENTILATING A COW BARN.

Simple Plan That Can Be Made to Work in Any Stable by Anyone Handy with Tools.

A basement stable barn with which we are acquainted having space for at least 50 cows, has been ventilated the past winter so that the air seems sweet and fresh all the time by putting in two fues two feet square, made practically airtight from matched boarding and setting them so they start about a foot above the stable floor and extend upward to the roof and project three or four feet. A little roof over the ventilator keeps out snow or rain. A handkerchief held near the opening is strongly drawn towards the opening of the shaft, showing the forcible upward current of the air. This opening is placed near the floor so that the impure air which is heavier will be taken out by the strong draft first. This shaft should extend up through the roof that the foul air may escape outside of the barn. To admit fresh air so that it will not chill the cows or immediately be drawn into the ventilator before serving its purpose several small square boxes are made and set in the side of the barn like studding with an opening into the box from the outside near the bottom of the stable and an opening into the barn at the top of the stable. Thus there is a current of pure air constantly entering into the barn without injury to the cows, and as fast as it becomes impure is drawn up outside. By having some traps in the shafts to open or close the temperature can be controlled in very windy weather. This plan can be made to work in almost any barn by anyone handy with tools.—H. G. Manchester, in Rural New Yorker.

THE RIGHT TIME TO STOP.

Notes on Orchard Cultivation Which Seem to Be Worthy of Careful Consideration.

Cultivation of the orchard should generally be stopped by the end of July. This is especially the case with old orchards that are being cultivated for the first time. In the case of an orchard that has been cultivated right along there can be little or no harm in cultivating at any time of year. It will then stop growing in mid-summer, and will spend the rest of its time and energy in hardening up its wood. But the orchard that has not been cultivated, or even that has not been cultivated in the spring of this year will be injured by giving it extra attention of this kind in the late summer and fall. If, however, the trees are carrying a heavy crop of fruit, cultivation may be continued later than if the trees are bare or have little fruit on them. The extra amount of plant food set loose will then go into the fruit that is being produced, and the late development of buds and of wood will not occur. In fact, in dry climates and dry seasons the late cultivation may prevent the fruit-laden trees from becoming weakened from lack of moisture. Then as there is a great deal of loss of moisture from the uncultivated ground and the fruit on the trees is requiring a great deal for its development, there is sometimes injury to the tree from the supply of moisture being lessened or cut off.—Farmers' Review.

Whitewash for Cow Stables.

Whitewash is a valuable adjunct in keeping the cow stable clean. Our milkmen have learned this long ago, at least those that have to sell milk to exacting buyers. Visiting the farms in the vicinity of Elgin, Ill., one is struck with the frequency of the whitewashed stables. One of the great advantages of this wash is that it shows dirt readily, and when it has been applied a stable cannot get very dirty without the attention of the owner being called painfully to that fact. As a germicide whitewash ranks high, and dairymen should use it more than they do.—Farmers' Review.

Fat in Cheese Production.

Skilled cheesemakers say that the more the curd is stirred and agitated the more it throws out fat, which later is taken from the whey and made into what is called whey butter. When the amount of fat appearing in the whey is large, it is a sign that the curd is being excessively stirred. The good cheesemaker tries to incorporate in the cheese all the fat possible, as this improves the quality of the cheese. Under proper management of the curd the whey should not test more than three-tenths of one per cent. butter fat.

Take Care of Your Friends.

The great increase in small rodents in various parts of the country in recent years is due mainly to the destruction of their natural enemies—hawks, owls, skunks. Don't let your boy or any other boy shoot these birds and animals. They are a nuisance around the chicken yard, but it is not a difficult matter to protect the chickens for a few weeks, and the good friends of the farmer are worth many dollars to every farmer. Most of the smaller birds eat up thousands of noxious insects.—Farm and Home.

Cream from the deep setting system should be kept cold until enough has been collected for a churning, then ripened.

WE MUST ASSIST NATURE.

"What to Do After Planting" Discussed by Prof. H. E. Van Deman, Promologist.

It is far too common to see fruit trees planted and then left to their fate, or nearly so. Some people seem to have the idea that their duty is done when they set things in the ground; that Mother Nature will do the rest. Nature does do a great deal for us, and, probably, far more than we often deserve, but we must not presume too much upon her efforts. We have only begun our duty. Like the mother who has the infant in her arms—it is to be made by her, very largely, whatever it will be in future life. It must be fed and trained. So must the tree or plant.

In the first place, supposing the soil is fairly rich and the planting has been done properly, which is very often not the case, there should be nothing like allowing the soil to become hard. This it will do in a short time if not given prompt attention. The spring rains are usually abundant, and this fact alone will cause the soil to pack, and when a dry spell comes, it will bake on top, if it is not prevented. The best thing is good tillage. By this I mean the tillage of the entire surface between the trees or plants. Many act on the theory that a little space about them is all that is necessary to keep loose, which is a serious mistake. Capillary works laterally as well as vertically. A hard space, where the moisture is escaping into the air very freely, will draw upon the soil next to it, if it be moist. That is just what occurs in cases where little patches are kept hard about trees in a grain field or a grassy yard. It will be so anywhere that all the land is not under thorough tillage.

If a farm or garden crop must be grown between the trees, as is often wise and proper to do, let it be one that shall be well tilled for several months, beginning in the springtime. In any case, stir the surface frequently, but not very deep. This is the true principle of tillage, for it is to conserve the soil moisture. Plow under weeds if necessary, but aim to never let them get large enough to need it. Watch the young sprouts that will finally be branches, and rub or cut away those that are not needed. This is much better than to allow them to get large and then have to cut them off, to the injury of the tree in some degree. A sin never committed does not have to be repeated of, and so with that tree; one not allowed to grow right into bad shape does not have to be righted.

Keep the insects and fungus diseases off by spraying while things are young, if there is any need of it, and there often is more than we are apt to think. In short, live with what you have planted, as a mother does with her child, and know what it is doing and needing.—Prof. H. E. Van Deman, in Rural World.

MAKING OVAL FLOWER BED

No Other Shape Affords Quite So Much Opportunity for Display of Various Plants.

The simplest and most satisfactory way to make an oval flower bed is that shown in the cut. Stakes are set at a and b and an endless cord, longer than twice the distance between the stakes, placed around them. Then the slack of the cord is taken up by the stake c, which is scratched across the surface of the ground as it is moved around the two stationary stakes, after which the apparatus may be removed. If the line be traced before the ground is dug, a spade may be used at once; if after, the mounding of the bed may be done without further delay. This method takes less than a quarter of the time occupied in the old way of sighting and the results are far more satisfactory. By varying the length of the cord or the distance between the stakes a and b, the shape of the oval may be varied from narrow to broad as desired.—M. G. Kins, in Farm and Home.

DAIRY AND LIVE STOCK.

The separator must be kept in perfect repair and well oiled.

Cows should be milked, watered, fed and cleaned at regular intervals.

It is in the care of the cream that the most important work of butter making is done.

When feeding cattle the object should be, especially if they are two-year-olds and at all times, to get as much growth and development during the first two or three months of feeding, and then widen out the ration and fatten rapidly.

It is better to feed to young calves a little linseed jelly in addition to bran and oats. Prepare by placing a tablespoon oil process oil meal in earthen jar or dish, add boiling water and mix. It is readily eaten and is beneficial to the digestive organs.

I had a fat beef to sell and cattle buyers offered only $28 for the steer alive. I butchered him and sold the meat to a hotel for $43.70. The hide paid for the slaughtering and the offal made dog and chicken feed.—Isho Letter in Farm and Home.

The Horse Has Its Rights.

The automobile and good roads questions seem to be prominent among the issues of the day. They are about to be blended into one question, however, for the better the road, the more automobile-ists there will be. Some farmers uphold the auto side, but the majority are against it. If more autos will improve the condition of rural roads, they are to be encouraged, but if they wait for the good roads to come first, they should be discouraged. There is no doubt, however, that the automobile is a nuisance on the public rural roads. They make it unsafe for a child or lady to drive alone. The horse was on the ground first, and will not leave for the "steam horse" without some conflict.—Rural World.

Simple Way of Tarring Corn.

We have read of several methods of tarring corn, but ours is the simplest that we have seen. Put a bushel or more of corn in a bran sack, pour on to this three or four tablespoonsful of gas tar or coal tar, tie up the sack, then work it back and forth on the floor a dozen times, and the corn is tarred and it will not blacken fingers scarcely any. No water is needed to moisten the corn and no ashes, plaster or other substance to dry the corn after tarring.—Rural New Yorker.

IT WAS NOT APPRECIATED.

Minister's Wife Had a Flower Hat and Put It in the Wrong Place.

A story is told by the Chicago Inter Ocean of a woman in that town, the wife of a young man who has always had a liking for hats of the flower-bed variety, although she condemned others for wasting money that should go to the kitchen. At present she owns a "dream" of a "sky piece," that is covered with violets. The young wife wore this hat to a funeral recently, at which her husband officiated. Going into the room which contained the coffin she removed the hat and placed it on a stand.

The sad-faced, sleek-haired undertaker came in a few minutes later to arrange the "doral tokens" on the coffin. After putting the bouquets, wreaths, pillows, broken wheels, anchors and the usual run of flowers in place, he picked up the violet-covered hat and tenderly placed it on top of all the rest.

Several of the "mourners" giggled, and the minister's wife wanted to grab her hat and run. She had to let it alone, however, until the close of the ceremony.

When she marched past the bier she lunged for the hat and successfully made her escape.

Beware the Traveling Doctor.

St. John, Kan., May 30.—A very peculiar case is that of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McBride, of this place, as reported by Dr. Jesse L. Limes, the attending physician.

The little boy had a severe case of malignant scarletina which left him paralyzed in the right leg and right arm. He also lost the hearing in the right ear.

"I treated him and he gained slowly and had begun to try to use his limbs some when a traveling doctor came along and told the child's parents that he could cure their boy in a short time. They used his medicines, but the boy grew worse and began having spells very like Epilepsy.

"Mr. McBride came to me again and I proposed giving him a course of Dodd's Kidney Pills, which was commenced at once. The improvement was instant and in a few days the epileptic seizures ceased altogether."

Professional Ride.

"Why, your flying machine won't even leave the ground!" said the man who had been induced to observe the experiment.

"Well," answered the inventor, after some reflection, "my machine may not be as much of a triumph as you think it is, but it's a heap safer."—Washington Star.

Doubtful Compliment.

Pauline Biegrow, who has accepted the chair of foreign relations at Boston university, had completed an address before the Twentieth Century club of Chicago. A young man congratulated Mr. Biegrow rather awkwardly on this address, and the learned traveler replied:

"That is a doubtful compliment. It reminds me of a remark that I once heard of a groom made at a New Hampshire wedding. 'This friend, an observant chap, watched the groom closely during the ceremony, and at the end bore down on the happy man, shook him warmly by the hand, and said: 'Bill, ye done good. I had an idea ye would be skittish while ye war bent' tied up, but, begosh, ye looked as bold as a sheep.'—Washington Post.

DOCTOR ADVOCATED OPERATION. PE-RU-NA MADE KNIFE UNNECESSARY.

MRS. EVA BARTHO, 133 East 12th St., New York City, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for three years with leucorrhoea and ulceration of the womb. The doctor advocated an operation which I dreaded very much, and strongly objected to go under it. Now I am a changed woman. Peruna cured me; it took nine bottles, but I felt so much improved I kept taking it, as I dreaded an operation so much. I am to-day in perfect health and have not felt so well for fifteen years."—Mrs. Eva Bartho.

Mrs. Senator Roach, of Larimore, N. Dak.; Mrs. Senator Warren, of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Belva Lockwood and Mrs. General Longstreet, of Washington, D. C., are among the prominent ladies who endorse Peruna.

Miss Helen Rolof, Kaukauna, Wis., writes: "Several times during the past two years or more my system has been greatly in need of a tonic, and at those times Peruna has been of great help in building up the system, restoring my appetite and securing restful sleep."—Helen Rolof.

Miss Mariel Armitage, 36 Greenwood Ave., Detroit, Mich., District Organizer of the Royal Templars of Temperance, writes as follows:

"I suffered for five years with uterine irregularities, which brought on hysteria and made me a physical wreck. I tried doctors from the different schools of medicine, but without any perceptible change in my condition. In my despair I called on an old nurse, who advised me to try Peruna, and promised good results if I would persist and take it regularly. I kept this up for six months, and steadily gained strength and health, and when I had used fifteen bottles I considered myself entirely cured. I am a grateful, happy woman to-day."—Miss Mariel Armitage.

Miss Lucy M. Riley, 33 Davenport St., Cleveland, Ohio, writes:

"I wish to add my indorsement to thousands of other women who have been cured through the use of Peruna. I suffered for five years with severe backache, and when weary or worried

MRS. EVA BARTHO.

It is no longer a question as to whether Peruna can be relied on to cure all such cases. During the many years in which Peruna has been put to test in all forms and stages of acute and chronic catarrh no one year has put this remedy to greater test than the past year.
